

Congressman Jesse L. Jackson, Jr., today said, "I join with the world community in condemning the terrorist attacks in India that have killed at least 147 people and wounded more than 300 commuters. My heart goes out to all the victims and their families, as well as the Indian nation. Seven bombs went off on Bombay's commuter rail network during rush hour in a well-coordinated terrorist attack. While Kashmiri militants are suspected, no one has yet claimed responsibility for this dastardly deed.

"Such heinous acts can never be morally justified and those responsible must be brought to justice. Legitimate grievances must be resolved without resorting to violence against innocent civilians," Jackson concluded.
